

Code of conduct

The Awin Code of Conduct provides additional rules and guidelines to help Publishers deliver high quality performance for Advertisers in the Awin network.

Introduction

The Awin Code of Conduct applies to all Publishers which participate in the Awin Network and deliver web traffic and consumers to Advertisers.

The Code seeks to achieve the following overriding objectives:

Confidence

Maintain consumer confidence in the fairness of online advertising and tracking technologies

Fairness

Ensure fair dealings amongst Publishers and Advertisers

Compliance

Ensuring commitment to internationally recognised social standards and, in particular, the positions set out in the German Supply Chain Due Diligence Act

Code of Conduct includes practical guidance on how to comply. Publishers must follow this guidance in order to comply with this document, but following the guidance does not guarantee compliance with the Code of Conduct.

Publishers must decide for themselves which measures to take in order to comply with the Code of Conduct. Therefore, complying with the Code of Conduct may require Publishers to take measures in addition to the measures described as guidance.

This Code of Conduct reflects Awin's expectations regarding general Affiliate Marketing. Additional expectations may apply to specific regions, industries and activities and are laid down in their respective Codes of Conduct and Best Practice Documents.

Namely these are:

 Downloadable Software

 Coupon Advertising

 Cashback Best Practice \(UK\)

Furthermore, the ethical standards for suppliers shall be observed in accordance with Awin's Supplier Code of Conduct as may be amended or updated by Awin at its discretion on notice to the Publisher.

Monitoring and Enforcement

The Awin Partner Compliance Team cooperates with Awin Account Managers, Advertisers, Publishers and Third Party Suppliers to effectively monitor behaviour in the network and enforce compliance with the Code of Conduct and our Terms and Conditions.

While we strive for a collaborative approach to resolving questions around activities, non-compliant activities will face sanctions ranging from warnings and forfeiture of commissions up to account suspensions, account terminations and network bans.
